Senator Pepper To Speak Here Monday Noon

Senator Claude Pepper, bringing a loose campaign schedule, will tour the Glades area Monday, according to Richard M. Harris, acting local campaign chairman.

He will speak in Belle Glade about noon in front of the City Hall. Coming from Miami in the morning, his tentative plans also include speeches in South Bay, Pahokee, and Delray Beach.

Harris is serving as an assistant to Samuel D. Phillips, Jr., Palm Beach County campaign manager.

Although the violations ranged from such minor things as vagrancy to drunken driving, the arrests made over the past week-end by Belle Glade police testify to the fact that a flatfoot's life is an agony.

"Flatfoot," however, is an obsolete term, since the American cop of 1950, privileged to do his best outside a six cylinder Ford or similar conveyance, is now more apt to flatten another portion of his anatomy.

Glades escapes serious frost damage Thursday night. Low temperatures occurred this morning about 4 a. m.

A low of 28 degrees occurred at the Experiment Station with patches of light frost. Gradual warming up began at 5 a. m. Future outlook continued cool but with slightly higher temperatures in prospect for Friday night.

He said he anticipated completion of the work would result in a satisfactory link.

Times Have Changed

"Railroad workers, as well as stockholders, shippers, and consumers, should demand a revised Federal policy all along the line to eliminate discrimination and other governmental burdens retarding the potential progress of rail transport," says the San Antonio Express.

"What hurts most is the fact that the Federal transport policy still operates largely on the right-of-way basis," says the Express.

roads have a virtual monopoly and that other forms of transport need a helping hand to stay in the race. Technological advance has outstripped that concept, but the government keeps its heavy hand on the railroads in the close competition which has developed."

The Parsons, Kansas, Sun, expressed the same idea when it said: "Not until the country adopts an overall transportation policy that treats all types of carriers equally and fairly will the railroad problem be solved."

A great many other newspapers have been saying much the same thing. There can be no question but that our government policy of regulating transportation is obsolete. It is based on assumptions that are no longer valid, and have not been valid for many years. A very large part of the railroads' passenger and freight service must be sold to direct competition with other carriers—with planes, trucks, buses and the privately-owned automobile. Yet the railroads' passenger and freight service must be sold to direct competition with other carriers—in one fashion or another. A new transportation policy, based solely on the facts as they now exist, if the only solution to a problem of the greatest public importance.

Everglades Vocational High

The Bobcats met the Junior and Senior boys of Carver High of Miami on Thursday, February 23. The Juniors were defeated by a score of 11-16. The Seniors played a superior game of basketball. The lead was constantly changed throughout the game. When the final whistle blew, the score was 44-44, but again one of our star players had the opportunity to bring his team through victoriously, because he had one foul shot to make. Oliver Davis scored the foul shot, which gave the Bobcats a 45-44 margin.

On Friday, the 24th, the Bobcats had double wins as they defeated the boys and girls of McIntosh High School. The girls won 16-4, and the fellows, 42-21.

The Bobcats entertained the Ft. Pierce team on Monday night. The Bobcat girls won an easy victory as they won 26-3. The boys won 44-24.

On Saturday, seven young ladies from the Senior Class, members of Delta Epsilon Zeta Chapter of Zeta Phi, visited the West Palm Beach, Florida, at a tea. Those attending were: Willie Mae Williams, Mrs. Miller, Dancy Bell Williams, Mrs. Lois Frazer, Thea Pearl Foster, Bernice Williams, and Juanita Poole. The tea was held in the spacious and beautiful home of the Williams, 1100 S.W. 10th St., at 3:30 p.m. The Zeta's also had at their guests several senior young women from the West Palm Beach. After being introduced, the girls conversed for a short time. Then, after a short time, the girls were introduced to a delightful game of pool. After the game was over, Mrs. Williams, the hostess, then the entire group climaxed a most enjoyable afternoon as they sang "Sweet Home."

On Tuesday, February 22, the sophomore class along with the Senior girls and their Home Economics teacher, Mrs. L. W. Davis, traveled to the Florida Plant, which is located between Bryant and the 30 mile bend. There they learned the process by which Rame is made. The first process is called de-stemming, the second, degumming. The product is then sent to Cleveland and bleached and then it is combined and then sent to Switzerland to be made into the finished product. The girls were very interested in the process and learned much about the different stages. They went to the fields and Mr. Davis showed them by a simple method how Rame is made.

The trip was very interesting; everyone enjoyed it.

On Wednesday, February 23, this was an interesting month for the 2-3 Class. There were many things to do and many things to study about. We made Valentine's and gave them to each other, learned the meaning of St. Valentine's Day, read the stories of George Washington and Abraham Lincoln, and we enjoyed drawing and cutting out pictures of each of them.

We are making some very colorful booklets in which to put all of our background work. Each pupil is trying to have the neatest and most colorful booklet. We are also trying to finish a circus cut-out for our sand table. Everyone is doing a very good job. They are anxious to see the sand table set up.

We have an assembly in our classroom and we made time to stories about it. The stories were written on the blackboard and each of us wrote the story. The best work was taken up and placed on the bulletin board.

Parent Of The Month

This month, I have a very special reason for choosing Mrs. M. L. Williams as parent of the month. Last week, I stopped into her little store to buy some groceries. I found her more than an hour, I found that I had learned much from her. I found her more than an hour, I found that I had learned much from her. I found her more than an hour, I found that I had learned much from her.

What is just like a small store. I found her more than an hour, I found that I had learned much from her. I found her more than an hour, I found that I had learned much from her. I found her more than an hour, I found that I had learned much from her.

MARKHAM, BELLE GLADE
for the eleven-day fair period. The traveling trophy can only be kept for three years by the same person; although, Markham will receive a miniature to keep after the large 30 inch high award moves on. With firm set jaw, he expressed determination to defend it next year.

Probably stung more than any man in the state, Markham has become immune to the bee's spite since entering the business.

commercially during the war years. Although he had some hives previously, not until the good price of honey caused by war time sugar shortages did he start on his present large scale.

Now Markham maintains approximately 500 hives over the state. Gathering the surplus honey, he canvasses the honey market. After honey is brought in to supers, the boxes honey combs are made in, refinement process in his well equipped honey house on 41 S.W. Avenue begins. A family affair, his two children assist in the honey house after school. Extraction and filtering of the amber liquid rather than their "A, B, C's."

Markham only packs as he receives either wholesale or private orders. Most of his business now is with wholesalers in Miami St. Petersburg.

Last year he sold 75,000 pounds to the government for the school lunch program.

Honey quality depends on the flower from which the nectar comes, Markham says. Different flowers produce individual flavors and colors.

He has both orange blossom and thistle honey, although he says that the latter, which is only obtained in Palm Beach County, is the rarest. Under his careful grading process, the darker stronger honey is sold for baking purposes while the lighter milder honey is produced for table use.

Commenting on his breed winners, Markham says, "bees have a type of sociolistic community." They all have special tasks which depend upon their ages. For instance, bees under two weeks of age confine their duties to inside the hive. Later, they work the field gathering nectar. In old age they become guards.

Following the jungle's law of the survival of the fittest, bees kill off their old which they are no longer useful.

"Bees are very interesting to watch," says Markham, "and humans could draw a valuable lesson from them." "If we humans could organize and work together as the bees do, we might have a more peaceful land."

LOANS AVAILABLE
"redemption," essentially means replacing city areas which are not too popular to live or work in.

"Until recently city planning was a matter of local concern," Dr. Hauser says, but under the new housing act and its provisions for slum clearance and redevelopment the matter now becomes one of national concern.

"From now on the federal government is prepared to join with state and city government in work on community planning," he says. What he means, what he has in mind, are questions Dr. Hauser put to the reader in his latest issue of "Economic Leadership."

While promulgating a later bulletin to extend his discussion on community planning and the new national policy, in order to "help the reader form an independent opinion." Dr. Hauser in Part I discusses: the main features of federal legislation; the two kinds of federal loans available under the law; the federal land policy; and some history behind enactment of the Housing Act of 1949.

Under "main features" he says the act fulfills the hopes of those state legislators who hoped the federal government would come forth with loans to cities. Dr. Hauser also says that another feature provides that municipal governments, or special agencies operating under their control would receive loans and grants only if they engage actively in city planning and if they are in a position to carry a share of the cost of redevelopment.

Also important in order to qualify for the loans, clearance plans made by local governments must not result in a problem of displacement. Too, local governments cannot receive loans or grants against the value of their state or federal government.

Loans available under the new law are of two kinds: short term and long term, he says. Short term loans are small for the purpose of planning functions, called "advances of funds." These must be repaid as soon as the local government receives any money from redevelopment operations.

Long term loans, not to exceed ten years, are available for land acquisition, clearance, temporary shelter, and public facilities. However, "long term loans are contemplated only in the case of specific projects," Dr. Hauser points out.

Copies of "Economic Leadership" are mailed to residents of Florida on request.

Feeding Range Cows In Winter Produces More, Better Calves
Increased growth of calves and productive capacity of cows are the effects of supplemental winter feeding on burned or unburned native Florida range, according to Dr. W. G. Kirk and Horace J. Fulford, of the Range Cattle Experiment Station, Mississippi. The figures Dr. Kirk include the following:

Average yearly calf gain per acre of pasture was 9 pounds on unburned pasture and 14 pounds on one-half pasture burned and no supplemental feed.

Average yearly calf gain per acre of pasture was 11 pounds on one-half pasture burned and 4.8 pounds on one-half pasture burned and 7.7 pounds of fresh sugarcane tops per acre.

Average yearly calf gain per cow was 178,221,237, and 250 pounds, respectively, and in the same order the percentage calf crop was 56, 75, 68, 13 and 71.

For the experiment, 46 grade and native cows were maintained on 800 acres of improved range, fenced into five 160-acre pastures, from November 1947 to November 1949. The cows were separated into the original groups and placed on pasture for an average of 120 days, per year, and the lots rotated so that each group wintered on each of the five pastures.

COUNTY EXPOSITION
roof of the huge Trade Mart edifice when the doors swing open on March 3rd for the Grand Preview of Palm Beach County Industry on Parade at 7 p.m.

Nothing so grand in nature has ever been displayed before in the County to acquaint the public with the many industries and services that are essentially vital to the life of the County. In the home construction industry have spent thousands of dollars to place before the spectators the most modern in design, while displays of home furnishings and accessories have been arranged to give prospective home owners a glimpse of the items necessary for the perfect home.

Not to be outdone, members of the Electrical Dealers Association, in conjunction with the Florida Power and Light Company, have reserved a large portion of the Electrical Building for display of the latest electrical appliances. Featured every afternoon daily will be the popular cooking school with Mrs. Lottie A. Pearce, Home Economist, in charge. A stage has been erected at one end of the building for the lectures and demonstrations with seating arrangements for hundreds of cooking enthusiasts.

Live models, mannequins, marionettes, play electric advertising and movie displays to highlight the many features. Huge neon, four feet in height and 175 feet long, will blaze their way on the Southern Boulevard entrance. The spacious courtyard fronting the buildings will be floodlighted as will the huge 3,000 car free parking space less than one half block from the main entrance.

Refreshment stands are provided in the buildings, while the main cafe will be located in the Electrical Building where substantial needs will be served. The outside entertainment area adjacent to the canal will accommodate the fountains and "The Fearless Three," high wire acrobatic act, the great Jay-Jay, the lion and other outstanding features. Seven new and novel electric rides for the youngsters will be in full swing with all the candies, apples, floss and popcorn that countless main them happy.

Buildings are joined by land

speaker system with the popular soft music being transmitted by telephone wire. Inter-building communication will be facilitated by two exhibitors employing different systems. No expense has been spared by exhibitors and Exposition officials to make the 1950 show the largest and most interesting ever staged in the area.

Applications for entry of exhibits have been received from 25 States, but under the present policy, only concerns strictly classified as Palm Beach County, are included, other educational or entertainment features.

Landscaping of the area is proceeding rapidly around the buildings. In addition to the normal beautifications, several leading concerns are cooperating to produce an area between the Everglades Building and the Trade Mart that will include a deluxe outdoor patio, with planted lawn of various types, grasses backed up by shrubbery and trees by nursery growers. Following the preview March 3rd the doors of the Exposition will remain open from 11 to 10 p.m. daily and Sunday through March 12th.

Exposition officials are confident that the estimated attendance of 30,000 will be surpassed by this year.

Sullivan's Pharmacy
Sullivan's Pharmacy, located on Avenue A and Second Street, was established in 1944, and has been owned since 1945 by Mr. Ben C. Slinest.
Although Mr. Slinest has seen many changes since he entered the drug business in 1923—changes in the merchandise handled by a drug store, he still considers his prescription business of first importance and gives it careful, conscientious attention.
Sullivan's Pharmacy offers the people of this area the hundreds of items that they have grown to expect a drug store to stock, including a complete line of drugs, sundries, cosmetics, magazines, stationery, candies, smokers needs, and a complete fountain service where sandwiches and lunches are served.

Taxes To Be Used For Street Improvement

Street, and Joe Lewis Avenue. The streets were surveyed by Town Engineer John T. Pickett and laid out for the grade.
